

Terms and Agreement for Faculty

1. Purpose:

The Academic Support Center (ASC) is committed to providing academic support services to faculty at the college. The services provided by the ASC are designed to supplement classroom instruction, promote academic success, and help students achieve their academic goals.

2. Services Provided:

The ASC provides faculty resources including Supplemental Instruction Support, Embedded Tutor Support, workshops for their classes, student orientations for the ASC, class presentations, writing, and other personalized study support.

3. Eligibility:

While all faculty members at the community college are eligible to use the services provided by the ASC, the ASC reserves the right to choose and determine allocation of its resources. This may include, but is not limited to, prioritizing services based on need, availability of resources, and other factors as determined by the ASC.

4. Honest Use:

Faculty members are expected to use the services provided by the ASC honestly and ethically. This includes using the services for academic purposes only and not using the services for any illegal, unethical or fraudulent purposes. Faculty members are also expected to follow the academic policies and procedures of the college.

5. Liability:

The ASC is not liable for any loss or damage that may result from the use of its services. Faculty members are responsible for their own academic success and the ASC is not responsible for any grades or academic outcomes.

6. Termination of Services:

The ASC reserves the right to terminate services to any faculty member who violates the terms and conditions of this agreement.

By using the services of the ASC, faculty members acknowledge that they have read, understand and agree to the terms and conditions of this agreement.
